Notices for week commencing 13th September 2004

News

Welcome back to the new session, fully freshened and raring to start where we left off at the beginning of the summer.

On a sad note you are no doubt aware of the sad death of Tim Burgess, who left the Company the year before last. He was killed in a tragic car accident about a fortnight ago, and was buried last Friday in a very moving ceremony. Our thoughts go to his parents and family.

Harvest Festival

This Sunday is our harvest festival service. Please be at the church at 10:15 and bring with you a shoebox, wrapped in Christmas wrapping paper and filled with small toys, toothbrush, crayons etc. no doubt Mr Ward has given you some more ideas this evening. NO UNIFORM.

Battalion Weekend Camp

This will be on the weekend of 24th to 26th September. I don't have any details of costs as yet, and I know time is tight, but if you would like to go please speak to me as soon as possible.

Town Show

The Battalion are having a presence that the Enfield Town Show on the 18th/19th Sept. If you can come along and help on the bungee running or on the stand please let me know. This is another good opportunity for recruitment.

Next Monday

I am hoping that we may get some new recruits soon, so please make them welcome. The Fun day at the park went very well indeed with many parents taking forms, primarily for Anchor boys and Junior section, but you never know!!
